Seattle Times: Lakewood Police shooting

@seattletimes is experimenting with Google Wave and we'd love participants (we hear that's what makes it so cool). If you are a local journo, citizen following the story or just interested in how breaking content ebbs and flows on the Web, please join us.

Currently Seattle police are chasing reports of suspected cop killer Maurice Clemons after the house they had surrounded overnight turned up empty:

Nov 30

clarystephanie@googlewave.com: from our executive editor: Employees at RDA Building, 800 S. Maynard, told to stay in the building. One Nov 30 says he can see a bloody gauze on sidewalk.

JT Perry: At what point are we (society, police, etc) over reacting? Using blowhorns, etc because we see bloody gauze? Now Nov 30 I assume police have more to indicate he is in the area.

Joe Ruiz: It's a legitimate question, but police aren't likely to take any chances in passing up tips.

Nov 30

petebaldridge@googlewave.com: was the gause a tip or just an observation from a bystander?

Nov 30

Andrew DeFilippis: Who knows what is actually going on, the scanner traffic is back and forth between a lot of different incidents.

Nov 30

Chad: I added the link above.

Nov 30

clarystephanie@googlewave.com: very cool, thank you

Nov 30

Hideki Saito: Be aware that it is potentially illegal for you to write about things

Nov 30

tdykstra@googlewave.com:
Tell that to SeattleCrime and SeattleTimes

Nov 30

heard over scanner (not sure about webcasting of audio)...

Cassie Wallender: The scanner is public at: <http://www.komonews.com/news/content/scanner/31214074.html?video=pop&l=a>

Nov 30

Which makes me wonder why it would be illegal to disclose anything overheard on it, since it's not exactly secret.

Brendan: In most states your not allowewd to have a scanner in a car, and it could be illagle for you to relay info hear over a scanner to sombody in a car (because of the possibility of peopple warning of upcoming road traps).

Nov 30

Chris Longman: Any information that would compromise an investigation, raid, or service will not be relayed over publicly-accessible channels, including unencrypted analog scanner traffic. The statement above is not an accurate representation of Washington State law.

Nov 30

Hideki Saito: Which could be mean this is somewhat gray area, but I guess it probably not strictly enforced;

Nov 30

Alexis Rado: No, what it means is you can talk about anything you hear on the public scanner.

Nov 30

Elise Oras: illegal to write things OH on a scanner?

Nov 30

Hideki Saito: There's a law called ECPA, which states:

Nov 30

(e) (i) intentionally discloses, or endeavors to disclose, to any other person the contents of any wire, oral, or electronic communication, intercepted by means authorized by sections 2511(2)(A)(ii), 2511(b)-(c), 2511(e), 2516, and 2518 of this subchapter, (ii) knowing or having reason to know that the information was obtained through the interception of such a communication in connection with a criminal investigation, (iii) having obtained or received the information in connection with a criminal investigation, and (iv) with intent to improperly obstruct, impede, or interfere with a duly authorized criminal investigation, under prohibition.

Andrew Filer: What that's referring to is the exemption for telephone company employees, law enforcement officers, etc to conduct/assist in surveillance. If they then use the information to interfere with an investigation, that's outlawed by the section you quoted. The radio scanner webpage is not intercepting "by means authorized by sections 2511(2)(A)(ii), 2511(b)-(c), 2511(e), 2516, and 2518 of this subchapter".

Nov 30

Chad: Unenforable in 2009. Sorry.

Nov 30

Hideki Saito: That's why I said it may be "potentially" illegal.

Nov 30

Tom Biro: I'm sure someone can make a gadget for that... good idea.

Nov 30

ryanirilli@googlewave.com: Anyone near the RDA building? with more info?

Nov 30

clarystephanie@googlewave.com: another update from our editor: Alex Hong at Spic 'n Span Cleaners on Maynard Ave. says 4 police cars there now, were 10 a few minutes ago.

Nov 30

coryhaik@googlewave.com: for some reason @dlboardman is not showing on public timeline on twitter -- folo him, tho. he's got the lastest, Nov 30 is live-tweeting the search

Isha Zubeidi: Here's a link to the twitter search that doesn't include RTs: <http://search.twitter.com/search?q=washooting+-rt>

Nov 30

jbelzman@googlewave.com: You can also follow the SeattleTimes WaShooting twitter list, which compiles staff tweets @ <http://twitter.com/seattletimes/washooting>

Nov 30

tdykstra@googlewave.com: We should add these links to the main article at the top.
Getting crowded at the bottom here.

Nov 30

Chad: Good call. That's the collaboration potential.

Nov 30

Joe Leverone: Chad I remember you from the Democrat wave. What a small world.

Nov 30

Chad: And getting smaller every day.

Nov 30

andrew.zahler@googlewave.com: Thanks Isha for that link. Any publish2 users gathering links?

Nov 30

Joe Ruiz: I love Publish2 as an option. Honestly, I spaced on thinking to use it this time. Something we should take a look at, though.

Nov 30

andrew.zahler@googlewave.com: For future: We should get you on the Northwest News group on Publish2, Joe.
<http://www.publish2.com/newsgroups/northwest-news/> (don't know if this link works if you aren't already a member)

Nov 30

Elaine Helm Norton: I added Joe to the group. Angela Dice set it up so all members are also admins and can add others.

Nov 30

andrew.zahler@googlewave.com: Great. I just tried but wasn't coming up with Joe.

Chad: Not directly, but we can start our own and rebuild it. They don't have maps linked from the back end yet.

Nov 30

Matthew McCourt: like the idea of the map

Nov 30

claycampbell@googlewave.com: yeah it wont let you embed an already made map...that i can tell

Nov 30

Chad: Have we started one here yet? I'd recommend starting another wave for it. It causes waves to load and move slowly.

Nov 30

Chad: Just created a new wave for the Map, and Linked it above.

Nov 30

Nov 30

Chad: Use the damn thing! That's why I created it! On wave, don't ask for permission, at least not from me.

Nov 30

andyftw@googlewave.com: I seem to recall that the vehicle she drove away in was a Dodge Intrepid, or something like that. Not a Mazda.

Nov 30

Gabriel Biller: is there live video online anywhere? chopper cams?

Nov 30

claycampbell@googlewave.com: kiro 7 has live video online

Nov 30

Gabriel Biller: thanks.

Nov 30

Cassie Wallender: All I've got so far is the live police scanner at <http://www.komonews.com/news/content/scanner/31214074.html?video=pop&t=a>

Nov 30

confederateyankee@googlewave.com: I can't get a location, but they seem to be on to something...I just heard on officer declare he had his "patrol rifle," which is another name for a semi-automatic AR-15 type carbine.

Nov 30

Andrew DeFilippis: Sounds like Cowan Park or something like that

Nov 30

Isha Zubeidi: They were asking for a K9 unit at Cowen Park.

Nov 30

Isha Zubeidi: Yikes...now it's sounding a little more serious.

Nov 30

goddenm@googlewave.com: How come all of the coverage is focused on him and we have seen very little on the wife, cousin, nephew, etc. KIRO this morning said several other arrests had already been made.

Nov 30

Ben Tang: arrests were linked to those that helped him after the shooting in lakewood goddenm@googlewave.com: These must be the same relatives who stripped for 5 min on Sunday on his orders.

Nov 30

Nov 30

baldwin.jeff@googlewave.com: Say what? Stripped?

Nov 30

goddenm@googlewave.com: Yeah, there was a mention in several articles that he had his wife and young children strip for 5 minutes because families should "be naked together on sundays". This is the same one that referenced him believing he could fly and that Obama would confirm he was the Messiah in the coming days.

Nov 30

baldwin.jeff@googlewave.com: Wow..ok, thanks. Had heard about the flying and Messiah comments, but not this one.

Nov 30

Scott Brown: It's pretty disgusting how many of his friends/relatives were helpful to him without even calling the police.

Nov 30

Max K: Not surprising though

Nov 30

stephenmcd@googlewave.com: It will be interesting to see how useful Google Wave is compared to Twitter. I *love* Twitter for breaking local news.

Nov 30

Chad: with:public washooting

Nov 30

Gabriel Biller: this seems very clumsy... anyway... interesting to see an attempt to make waving useful

Nov 30

Brian W. Post: This makes Twitter look slow. We have now gone from a 24/7 news cycle to second-by-second reporting.

Nov 30

Chad Rowe: Waving with this many is a little confusing.

Nov 30

stephenmcd@googlewave.com: I'm new to Wave, so forgive my ignorance, but for me, even if Wave is faster (which I'm not sure that it is), Twitter is much more useable. New posts at the top = win. With Wave, I have to scroll down through the wave to find new info. New posts hidden with no way to quickly access them = unmitigated fail.

Nov 30

Luke Meyers: Try hitting the space bar.

Nov 30

stephenmcd@googlewave.com: Thanks Luke! That works (most of the time, anyway, but it's better than nothing!).

Nov 30

Kirk Olson: What do you think about the live typing feed aspect of Wave?

Nov 30

goddenm@googlewave.com: Seems a little slow to me... I keep feeling like everyone is pausing for several seconds between inputs.

Nov 30

stephenmcd@googlewave.com: distracting/annoying, mostly

Nov 30

Will Boyd: I think eventually you'll be able to turn it off

Nov 30

Kirk Olson: I sure hope so! the feed jumps around so much. Wave seems to work better in a more controlled environment. Twitter allows more control in a dynamic environment for me.

This message is being sent to all Faculty, Staff, and Students with the approval of the UW Police Department.

Nov 30

University of Washington, Seattle Campus

This morning at 7:00 a.m., a Metro bus driver reported dropping off a rider resembling the suspect in the Lakewood police shootings at University Way, N.E. and N.E. 40th St. University Police were notified and a UW Alert message was sent alerting the campus community to the possible danger. Notice was also posted to the UW web site, along with a photograph of the suspect. Seattle Police responded and began a search of the area, along with UW Police, who also began a search of campus buildings, starting in west campus. As of 11:00 a.m., there has been no further sighting of the suspect, who is reported to be suffering from a gunshot wound, is armed and very dangerous. You are urged to be alert, cautious, and aware of your surroundings as you move about campus today. If you see someone resembling the suspect, please call 911 immediately.

claycampbell@googlewave.com: there was a rumor that faculty and staff didnt get the notification any truth to that?

Nov 30

tsatwicz@googlewave.com: i don't think so. my alert came through this morning and i've been updated all day along with my colleagues.

Nov 30

ryanirilli@googlewave.com: you have to be registered to get the alert. I work at the health scienced building in UWMC. I did not get an alert

Nov 30

Alexis Rado: Students got the alert a bit late. UW Law bldg is now on lockdown... since 11:15 this morning.

Nov 30

Scott Brown: Highly Recommend everyone listen in to the radio traffic as well at <http://www.komonews.com/news/content/scanner>

Nov 30

They are suddenly getting very active again.

Matthew McCourt: mine just says "Waiting for video"

Nov 30

Patrick McGarry: Try a different browser... Some video still only works on internet explorer...

Nov 30

Matthew McCourt: that worked. thanks

Nov 30

Scott Brown: Try this: <http://www.komonews.com/news/content/scanner>

Nov 30

Gabriel Biller: is this the same audio feed? <http://www.radioreference.com/apps/audio/?action=wp&feedId=220> no issues for me Nov 30 using this on mac... komonews was a problem

Paul Fillmore: it's slightly different, less of the automated fire alarm stuff.

Nov 30

Gabriel Biller: just overheard about blood trail... up in cowen park? 6100 block of brooklyn? is this the same suspect? did he Nov 30 move from the ID to Ravenna?

Matt Hickey: Yeah, it's really great of Komo to do that

Nov 30

Marissa: Very cool watching this Wave grow. It's the first time I'm truly seeing the use and effectiveness of Google Wave. I also see where Nov 30 folks are typing an update.

confederateyankee@googlewave.com: CSI units being calle dot Cowan Park hayeshaugen@googlewave.com: People can update twitter from their phone. Much harder to do same with wave.

Nov 30

Nov 30

chrismartin@googlewave.com: Definitely not as easy yet, though.

Nov 30

chrismartin@googlewave.com: You can update wave from your phone. Go to the google.wave.com and save it as a widget on your phone's screen.

Nov 30

shannonsnider@googlewave.com: They should just add it to the google app (for Iphone users)

Nov 30

Max K: It's still pretty chunky... not ready for prime-time

Nov 30

chrismartin@googlewave.com: I wouldn't be surprised if once Wave comes out of preview and into a beta stage we get some Nov 30 sort of mobile app.

Alex: Noooooo! I have to go to work! Chuckles!

Nov 30

Alex: And this is just the preview?

Nov 30

Kirk Olson: Anyone from the Google Wave team here?

Nov 30

Brian W. Post:

I'm trying to get their attention. Where is the "batman light" for these Google folks?

Nov 30

Abraham Epton:

I work at Google, but not on Wave. Happy to collect feedback and pass it on to the Wave guys and gals.

Nov 30

Joe Leverone: How is this police stream even legal? I don't understand.

Nov 30

Andrew DeFilippis: Public information

Nov 30

Paul Fillmore: Why wouldn't it be legal?

Nov 30

Joe Leverone: This nutcase could potentially be listening. Now of course it's highly unlikely. I've just never heard of this before. But now that you mention it, it makes sense. Nov 30

confederateyankee@googlewave.com: police scanners have been around for decades... this isn't new

Nov 30

Paul Fillmore: they can go private if they're going to reveal anything.

Nov 30

Scott Brown: They go to a TAC(tactical) channel when they are wanting to discuss something that shouldn't be across the public airwaves.

Nov 30

Crystal Nicole Fincher: When you are listening and there are long periods of silence, that's when they are going private

Nov 30

claycampbell@googlewave.com: if the news breaks from this story one more time to tell me about tiger woods im going to turn off my tv. how did this become more important? Nov 30

Douglas Hawks: I tweeted a desire for something big to happen in the world a few days ago so we could leave tiger alone. Didn't have this mind. I guess we need bigger :( I hate news media

Nov 30

Drew Winstel: OMG Celebrity trouble!!!11111one!!!

Nov 30

shannonsnider@googlewave.com: I agree, really hard to follow unless you have used wave before. This is really my first time.

Nov 30

Paul Fillmore: It's extremely slow. I can type something out and then watch it print out.

Nov 30

ryanirilli@googlewave.com: please note this is google wave PREVIEW

Nov 30

chrismartin@googlewave.com: It's worth taking a few hours and just playing around with all the features.

Nov 30

goddenm@googlewave.com: Police Scanner is now closing off traffic north of 45th on Ravenna and Brooklyn

Nov 30

Matthew McCourt: new blood trail at Cowan

Nov 30

Chad: Bad form. Duh. But let's let this Wave be focused on the hunt.

Nov 30

ryanirilli@googlewave.com: yes!

Nov 30

Matthew McCourt: calling for tons of containment at Cowan

Nov 30

bill.e.wood@googlewave.com: i heard they're shutting all traffic at brooklyn and 62nd, Ravenna, etc.

Nov 30

Chad: Add to the map:

Nov 30

Seattle Times: Lakewood shooting Map

Matthew McCourt: Cowan Place and University

Nov 30

goddenm@googlewave.com: I can't imagine the suspect still bleeding this much and being as mobile as needed to evade the entire police force.

Nov 30

Paul Fillmore: Well, you clearly don't watch action movies.

Nov 30

goddenm@googlewave.com: Clearly not, I saw Ninja Assassin's over the weekend and apparently you can be stabbed and sliced in all sorts of ways and be completely fine.

Nov 30

Marissa: I agree it is odd.

Nov 30

Captain America: it would depend on where the shooter was hit.

Nov 30

ryanirilli@googlewave.com: The Arkansas judge who supported Clemmons' clemency, Pulaski County Circuit Court Judge Marion Humphrey, also performed Clemmons' wedding in 2004.

Nov 30

now it is getting weird..

Paul Fillmore: Maybe he's really awesome, like super charming. Perhaps he has a good reason for killin them cops.

Nov 30

stephenmcd@googlewave.com: Wow. Don't know if I would have committed that to the public record . . .Yikes.

Nov 30

Matthew McCourt: anybody think Clemmons clemency is ironic?

Nov 30

John Glines: it's an close aptronym, but completely the wrong forum for wordplay.

Nov 30

chrismartin@googlewave.com: I loved his work with the E Street Band.

Nov 30

ryanirilli@googlewave.com: not cool Paul...

Nov 30

chrismartin@googlewave.com: I think he was being sarcastic.

Nov 30

stephenmcd@googlewave.com: Let's hope so.

Nov 30

ryanirilli@googlewave.com: still, not cool. don't forget 4 people are dead right now adpowers@googlewave.com: Yes Paul, please don't get in the way of our Crime Solving. Google Wave is serious business.

Nov 30

Nov 30

chrismartin@googlewave.com: I could be wrong, but I think that was his point. Basically saying that the judge's assertion that the suspect was charming does not mean that he's not a killer.

Nov 30

ryanirilli@googlewave.com: fair enough

Nov 30

chrismartin@googlewave.com: But what do I know? Maybe he really is an @$$.

Nov 30

Paul Fillmore: I can be sarcastic AND an ass, but I'm not the idiot if you think I'm being serious.

Nov 30

ryanirilli@googlewave.com: no one called you an idiot. some things can be inferred

Nov 30

Chad: Relax, everyone. It's not worth fighting about.

Nov 30

Brian W. Post: This has evolved into a fancy chat room. Goog needs to build some filters.

Nov 30

goddenm@googlewave.com: Isn't that what most social networking tools/sites are? A takeoff on IRC chat rooms from 1998.

Nov 30

Tom Biro: Seriously. I think that same thing every time someone is telling me how "groundbreaking" their hashtag-threaded chat on Twitter is. If only we could get them to use an IRC - but no one thinks it's a big deal that their discussions are piling into the public feed all along, too. It's got good sides and bad.

Nov 30

Matthew McCourt: I think they were following the vehicle that was released earlier to Cowen. They said it is the wrong vehicle, though. Still setting up containment

Nov 30

Joe Ruiz: RT @kiro7seattle Sister of slain officer Tina Griswold speaking on behalf of family in Spokane – live vid: <http://bit.ly/7cQqNk> #washooting

Nov 30

Matthew McCourt: K9 entering a house where someone saw "legs and shoes going through a window" in Cowen area.

Nov 30

ryanirilli@googlewave.com: address?

Nov 30

Matthew McCourt: not yet

Nov 30

Brian Walker: I am concerned by the real time reporting of scanner activity here and on twitter. This suspect may not be savvy but future ones may be. Nov 30 goddenm@googlewave.com: Of course, savvy criminals have been buying police scanners for years.

Nov 30

Arktist : If you are on the run from the police you aren't going to be sitting at a computer monitoring a Wave. ;-)

Nov 30

confederateyankee@googlewave.com: Funny you should mention that. The Mumbai terrorists used twitter to keep track of police reports via an accomplice that was watching the news. That said, police aren't giving out all their info over the airwaves. Nov 30 imagejennnation@googlewave.com: Is there any truth to the rumor that the suspect was at Harborview but escaped?

Nov 30

Chad: No.

Nov 30

goddenm@googlewave.com: This reminds me of the closing scene in Heat when Al Pacino is hunting Robert DeNiro after killing the cops in the bank robbery.... only no twitter or wave and that was a movie. Nov 30

hayeshaugen@googlewave.com: Really? <http://twitter.com/mauriceclemonns>

Nov 30

Chad: Holy smokes...

Nov 30

ryanirilli@googlewave.com: is this some kind of Joke?! whoa...

Nov 30

Paul Fillmore: it's from July, I mean, there hasn't been an update since then.

Nov 30

theradfords@googlewave.com: Holy crap! This guy is half way there. Is it weird that I think "this guy is a crazy killer, therefore he couldn't possibly be savvy, on twitter, etc?)" Nov 30

Matthew McCourt: That is really scary

Nov 30

goddenm@googlewave.com: Considering the photo is photoshopped, I would say so.

Nov 30

adpowers@googlewave.com: How do you know? Judging from the pixels and because you've seen a few in your day?

Nov 30

claycampbell@googlewave.com: someone should tell him to turn on his google latitude and start tweeting :)

Nov 30

claycampbell@googlewave.com: does anyone know why the alarm didnt go off when he cut off his gps tracker? they said it was pput on by the bondsman but most of the trackers that i know are alarmed so you cant just cut them off Nov 30

Captain America: they dont have the resources to monitor everyone on GPS, most of the time warnings are ignored. Nov 30

Brian W. Post: Just to recp what I've seen so far on this wave: Nov 30

Followers go from 3 to 115+ in about 20 minutes

References and shared links to maps, various online news, police scanners

Huge typing latency issues

Plenty of editorial comments

I feel like a news producer with CNN, picking and choosing all of these live feeds of info to pay attention to (maybe more like a Wall St trader)

mhord5065@googlewave.com: maybe he IS listening Nov 30

nfallat@googlewave.com: Maybe we should collectively go silent for a bit to see if the police can make some progress. I don't know. This is all sort of surreal. I support public information and public safety, but is anyone else not getting any work done, and not helping solve the crime either?? Signing off for now. Nov 30

Scott Brown: Starting the sweep through the park, east to west. Nov 30

Brian Walker: this to me is just the kind of info that should not be posted Nov 30

Scott Brown: Why not? It's public information. Do you think the suspect could be monitoring Google Wave from his laptop and seeing where the police are so that he can avoid them? IF he were concerned with monitoring the police, he'd do it with a scanner from Radio Shack. Nov 30

Drew Winstel: That and the wave lag in times like these (where Wave is getting hammered) would outweigh the gains of seeing this info compiled together. Nov 30

Matthew McCourt: I agree with Scott. Promore likely that he has a pocanner on him than a laptop or phone with google wave running Nov 30 bill.e.wood@googlewave.com: I think it's far more likely that any suspect would be listening to the radio feed themselves than reading it secondhand in googlewave... oops, mathew beat me to that comment Nov 30

Brian Walker: well, you may be more savvy to this than me, but what is the point of this reporting? If there is a chance you are giving a suspect info, I think you should not. Nov 30 adpowers@googlewave.com: Just like we gave terrorists knowledge that they can put bombs in shoes and liquids? Nov 30

How can we ever be safe if we are allowed to talk about the security measures in place?!

claycampbell@googlewave.com: most of us can barely digest and handle all of the information that is coming in right now and we are sitting in comfortable offices with t1 lines...were not out in the woods with a cell phone or stealing someones wifi Nov 30

Scott Brown: The point is to update people that may not be listening to the police radio. Unfortunately we have become a society that demands instant gratification. Since there is no live television coverage following the police around and Twitter has crashed... this is our option. Nov 30

Brian Walker: and you feel compelled to service these demands for instant gratification? Nov 30

Scott Brown: Moreso for my own benefit... but I'm sure there are other people that would like to stay up to speed on Nov 30 these events.

bill.e.wood@googlewave.com: but also imagine the possibility that thousands of citizens in seattle could be instantly alerted to Nov 30 look for a specific car or whatever... if I was running from the cops and knew that people were following it I'd feel at a disadvantage, not an advantage.

Brian Walker: my concern was informing of the direction of a sweep etc., looking for a vehicle, different case? Nov 30 tdykstra@googlewave.com: You're making as assumption that not only does the suspect have one of the limited Nov 30 invites to google wave but that he is also using a smart phone with the ability to view said wave while injured and running from people.

That's quite a few assumptions.

--edit

True. Perhaps we will all agree at some point about what info is pertinent to consumption and what isn't. But deciding that we should censor info that is FREELY AVAILABLE all over the web doesn't seem productive. Sure he may be using net, but so might a potential victim or informant, etc.

The info already exists whether its disseminated here or not.

Brian Walker: looking to the future here too. you may be right in that assumption, but it is wrng to assume a criminal Nov 30 wound not have access to technology.

Robby Macdonell: I think that's a really good point. The more information like that is repeated, the more likely it is Nov 30 that anyone in the area is on high-alert and

tdykstra@googlewave.com:
exactly.
It goes both ways.

Nov 30

keeping a watchful eye.

Robby Macdonell: Although, (devil's advocate here) it could also have the unintended consequence of making people Nov 30 panic when they only have a fraction of the facts. The last thing anyone wants is a bunch of ill-informed people freaking out about every mid-30s black man they see walking down the street that happened to be in the vicinity of a tip that someone overheard on a police scanner. Not that that's necessarily happening here, but speaking hypothetically.

tdykstra@googlewave.com: Good point. Look at all the mis-info on twitter with any big news story.

Nov 30

Scott Brown: imo, the community needs to be more involved with things like this. I for one wish I could help out somehow rather Nov 30 than sitting here at my desk.

Chad: Seattle Times: Lakewood shooting Map

Nov 30

Marissa: Hadn't heard that he cut off a GPS tracker ... where did that come from? I could NOT get this to post inline. Doing something wrong.

claycampbell@googlewave.com: they found it in the sweep of his house., they talked about it this morning on good morning Nov 30 america

Marissa: Thanks for the info Clay

Nov 30

Scott Brown: Overload on Twitter. Can't access any feeds.

Nov 30

confederateyankee@googlewave.com: I wonder if that might be intentional because he might be using Twitter

Nov 30

mattregan@googlewave.com: While possible i sincerely doubt it

Nov 30

tdykstra@googlewave.com: Very very unlikely.

Nov 30

Elise Oras: twitter fail whales.. gwave tells me it shut down. ahh... but has everyone seen this? @mauriceclemonns on twitter

Nov 30

Scott Brown: Ya spooky.

Nov 30

Elise Oras: hi posts were from JULY

Nov 30

Crystal Nicole Fincher: That's also not a picture of him on that profile.

Nov 30

Nov 30

David : yep

Nov 30

Scott Brown: Vehicle is owned by the truck driver/employee of the company.

Nov 30

Elise Oras: i thought it was a mazda 626, green

Nov 30

Matthew McCourt: confirmed 93 mazda 626

Nov 30

shadirhameed@googlewave.com: wht about the color?

Nov 30

Scott Brown: Green.

Nov 30

Frank Hieber: Google Wave has some potential in this situation. It is terribly slow, but it is still running, which is more than I can say for Twitter.

Nov 30

Scott Brown: Twitter is back up.

Nov 30

Max K: Did he say they were rolling pumpkins?

Nov 30

mkauffman123@googlewave.com: pumpkins are the key

Nov 30

Paul Fillmore: I thought he said throwing, but yes, pumpkins.

Not a good day to be a thirty-something black man walking around Seattle.

Fulvio Casali: that's what worries me

Nov 30

tdykstra@googlewave.com: Yeah, the same thing happened with those driving Forza's earlier this month

Nov 30

JcTorres: Can we use the photo for our newspaper VANGUARDIA at mexico

Nov 30

Matthew McCourt: so, also some people chaining themselves to B of A and Chase? anyone else get that? What is going on?! I guess I don't listen to the police scanner enough.

Nov 30

Scott Brown: Ya, heard some guy hollering in the back ground of the radio.

Nov 30

Kaleb Coleman: WTO reunion special...

Nov 30

tdykstra@googlewave.com: Heard it too, where was that?

Nov 30

Matthew McCourt:
Downtown ?

Nov 30

Matthew McCourt:
Description of guy: "White male... dirty clothing." Looks like it might be a rough day for the homeless as well.

Nov 30

tdykstra@googlewave.com:
Someone commemorating WTO protests perhaps?

Nov 30

Adrian: nut jobs are out in force

Nov 30

Chad: Did you just hear about the guy who wanted to help?! Concealed weapons permit, body armor, etc?

Nov 30

mattregan@googlewave.com: Did they say he had his gun sitting on the dash of his car?

Nov 30

tdykstra@googlewave.com: OK which one of you was it?
wait body armor is illegal?

I'm pretty sure it depends on the severity, right? If no vital organs were hit, he might survive indefinitely.

Nov 30

Marissa:
exactly. If it went through a "fatty" area and out, not much bleeding, might not be an issue. If it hit a vital area it could be much more severe and difficult for him to run around.

Nov 30

Frank Hieber:
In Reservoir Dogs they say that a guy won't survive overnight with a gunshot wound to the gut. but what does Quentin Tarantino know ?

Scott Brown: It really seems like things are starting to quiet down now.

Nov 30

kristi.waite@googlewave.com: Maybe he's on the move again?

Nov 30

Scott Brown: I dunno, but it seems that the radio traffic has really gotten quiet about him now... for the last hour it's been just regular radio traffic and every day occurrences.

Nov 30

Michael: I don't believe so. I believe the google wave beta/preview status makes the content unreadable by people without a google wave account. I do recall in their epic long google wave video that they intend to have the ability to embed waves in to webpages. Once embedding is more production level then Im sure non wave users can be linked.
